

Hear from our kaimahi

Sophie Molloy
Funding Application Advisor

"I enjoy the range of applications I work on. They include anything from vaccines to rheumatoid arthritis treatments. Working with people from backgrounds that differ from my own also means that there are many different perspectives to learn from! It also means that the on-the-ground knowledge I bring as a community pharmacist is highly valued."

EJ Gariando
Schedule Advice Lead

"The flexibility that a corporate role provides is a huge change from being a pharmacist. I am now able to carry out my work – providing advice on regulations, managing pharmaceutical enquiries, as well as building relationships with key stakeholders, all in the comfort of my home as the role allows me to occasionally work remotely. The fact that I don't have to be on my feet for more than 8+ hours a day has also been a massive bonus."

Hannah Arnold
Therapeutic Group Manager

"The skills I have developed as a pharmacist are essential to my work as a Therapeutic Group Manager at Pharmac. My pharmacist background helps me to bring a different perspective to the work we do and how this impacts New Zealanders, which is highly valued by my colleagues."

What we do

Te Pātaka Whaioranga - Pharmac decides what medicines to fund and manages a fixed budget for those medicines. We do not make, buy, or sell medicines. We don't make a profit. We are given a fixed budget by the Government, and we invest all of it.

Te Pātaka Whaioranga also manages hospital medical devices. We are working towards a new way of assessing, managing, and curating the way medical devices are purchased by Te Whatu Ora hospitals and specialist services.

We collaborate with others in the health and disability system. This includes pharmacists, medical professionals, pharmaceutical suppliers, advocacy groups, and organisations like Te Whatu Ora and Te Aka Whai Ora.

We also receive advice from our specialist advisory committees. These committees are formed by a diverse range of people. This includes consumers, Māori, Pacific peoples, disabled people, clinicians, technical specialists, and other healthcare workers. They help us to understand what is important and to make fair decisions.

Working at Pharmac

We support our kaimahi Māori to flourish and reach their career aspirations. We are a whānau centred organisation and understand the importance of maintaining a healthy work-life balance.

We offer benefits like 5 weeks of annual leave, hybrid working, and a Hau ora payment to support your well being.

You might help decide what medicines to fund, contribute to managing medical devices in hospitals, write policy, or be part of a team that keeps Pharmac running behind the scenes.

Internship opportunities

Each year we offer three paid TupuToa internships for registered Māori and Pacific taurira. These are twelve weeks long - from November to February.
